Superintendent, Fullerton School District

HISTORY

The District traces its history back to 1888 when it was initially established as the Fullerton Elementary School District. Parts of the District were taken from the Orangethorpe, Placentia and Anaheim School Districts that were then a part of Los Angeles County. The first school was opened in September 1888 in a small building on Commonwealth Avenue. The average daily attendance was about 40 pupils. Prior to the opening of the first school, children in Fullerton attended Orangethorpe School. The District has been officially known as the Fullerton School District since 1888.

DISTRICT PROFILE

Comprised of 15 elementary schools, two K-8 schools and three junior high schools, the Fullerton School District educates more than 13,500 students each year. The District is dedicated to the goal of all students achieving academic success. Standards-based curriculum is taught in all academic subject areas, in addition to physical education, visual and performing arts and 21st century technology. District measurements of student progress are utilized along with required State tests to assess continued skill development. Enrichment, thinking, organizational and strategic learning skills are an integral part of all subject areas. Teacher and administrator training programs are offered through and outside the District.

Approximately 1,300 certificated and classified employees serve the District's increasingly diverse student population which includes 29% Caucasian, 46% Hispanic, 20% Asian, 2% African-American and 2% other.

“Great Schools - Successful Kids” is the District's theme and provides the basis for the many educational programs. A strong participatory and collegial climate permeates the District. The Board of Trustees believes that the ongoing partnership among parents, students, educators, and the community is the key to success.

DISTRICT PROFILE

An elected Board of five trustees governs the Fullerton School District. Board Members are elected to four-year terms. The Board meetings are typically held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month in the Board Room located at 1401 W. Valencia Drive in Fullerton.

PERSONNEL COMMISSIONERS

Personnel Commissioners are appointed to three-year terms. Personnel Commission meetings are typically held once a month in the Classified Personnel Conference Room located at 1401 W. Valencia Drive in Fullerton.

Extended benefits shall be limited to 100 days compensated at 50% of regular salary. If a certificated employee is interested in applying for income protection/disability insurance, please contact a union representative.

During probation you will receive three evaluations: after your 2nd month, 4th month, and 5th month. Administrative evaluations are due after the 3rd, 7th and 11th month of probation. Use of vacation leave is not permitted for employees on probation. You will earn one sick day per month and you can utilize up to six days during probation.

RETIREMENT BENEFITS

California State Teachers' Retirement System (CalSTRS)

Upon employment, certificated employees will be enrolled in the State Teachers Retirement System (STRS). You will contribute either 10.25 or 10.205% of your monthly gross salary, dependent on the type of membership. The District contributes an amount that is adjusted annually. Your contributions are tax deferred.

The primary responsibility of CalSTRS is to provide retirement related benefits and services to teachers in public schools and community colleges. Throughout your career in California's public school system, and in the years to follow, you and your dependents will be eligible for CalSTRS services and benefits.

Employees who reach age 55 and who have not selected one of the CalSTRS options might lose value in their retirement. It is recommended that you check with a CalSTRS counselor to verify your best options.

California Public Employees' Retirement System (CalPERS)

Classified employees who are hired for four hours or more per day are automatically enrolled in the Public Employees' Retirement System (PERS). The retirement plan is coordinated with social security, meaning that you are eligible for benefits from both the retirement system and Social Security. Members who established PERS membership prior to January 1, 2013 and meet the "Classic member" status contribute 7% of their gross monthly income. As of January 1, 2013, any school employee that meets the definition of a new member under the Public Employees' Pension Reform Act of 2013 will also contribute 7%. Your contributions to PERS are tax deferred. The District's contribution is adjusted annually, based on specific economic and investment performance factors. Employer contributions are not kept in your name; they are kept in the employer's account.

Service credit is earned on a fiscal year basis, July 1 through June 30. You must work at least 10 months of full-time employment during a fiscal year to earn one full year of service credit. Service-credit is prorated for less than full time employees. Retirement is calculated based on service credit, age at retirement, and highest average pay rate.

Additional service credit may be purchased if you previously withdrew CalPERS contributions, served in active military duty, or worked for a CalPERS covered employer in a part time or temporary position.

CalPERS provides a variety of retirement benefit programs and services. Contact CalPERS for further information at:

STRS/PERS Retirement Funds Upon Separation Before Retirement

If you resign from the District, prior to retirement (provided you have been a member of PERS or STRS for at least five years) you may elect to leave your contributions in the system until you reach retirement age. However, you will not receive any further service credit unless you return to PERS or STRS covered employment. If you plan to work in another public agency, you may be able to transfer your service credit. If you elect to withdraw your contribution, the Internal Revenue Service will tax you on funds withdrawn before retirement and impose a 10% penalty for early withdrawal. In addition, if you withdraw the funds prior to retirement, you will receive only the funds you have contributed, not the funds deposited by the District.

Social Security and Medicare

Classified regular employees contribute 6.2% towards OASDI. Social Security pays benefits when you retire and are at least 62 or over, if eligibility requirements are met. To qualify for retirement benefits, you must have the required number of credits under Social Security. Most employees need 40 credits to qualify for retirement benefits – or about 10 years of work.

Part-Time Certificated Substitutes and Non-Represented Classified Employees

Certificated substitutes and non-represented classified employees who are not eligible to participate in either PERS or STRS qualify for participation in the PARS Alternate Retirement System Plan (ARS) 457 plan. In 1990, Federal legislation called the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 required that part-time, seasonal, and temporary employees participate in Social Security or an alternative plan established according to IRS guidelines. The PARS ARS 457 Plan is an alternative to Social Security. The deductions for PARS are withdrawn from your paycheck in lieu of deductions for Social Security.

Each pay period, 6.2% of your wages will be deducted from your paycheck on a pre-tax basis and contributed to the PARS ARS 457 Plan. This will lower your gross taxable income. The District will also contribute 1.3% of your wages to PARS on a pre-tax basis. You will be immediately vested in the total 7.5% and the account will remain tax deferred until the funds are withdrawn. Unlike Social Security, when your employment ends with the District, you may withdraw your PARS ARS 457 Plan account in a lump-sum cash payment or roll it over to an IRA or another retirement plan.

Medicare contributions will continue to be withheld from your paycheck in addition to the contributions made to the PARS ARS 457 Plan.

When employment with the District ends, you reach retirement age, become permanently and totally disabled, your PARS account will be available for an immediate lump-sum distribution to you or your beneficiary. If you become employed full-time and/or eligible for PERS or STRS with the District and your account balance is under $5,000, you will be eligible for a distribution two years after your last contribution to the PARS Plan. Once eligible to receive a distribution, PARS will send you a Distribution Packet allowing you to choose a lump-sum cash payment or a rollover into another IRA or retirement plan. Once the completed packet is received by PARS, a distribution will be made within 90 days.

EMPLOYEE RIGHTS

EMPLOYMENT DISCRIMINATION BASED ON DISABILITY¹

The Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA) enforced by the California Department of Fair Employment and Housing prohibits employment discrimination and harassment based on a person's disability or perceived disability. It also requires employers to reasonably accommodate an individual with a mental or physical disability unless the employer can show that to do so would cause an undue hardship.

The law covers mental or physical disabilities (including AIDS/HIV) regardless of whether the conditions are presently disabling. It also covers medical condition, which is defined as either cancer or genetic characteristics.

Disability does not include sexual behavior disorders, compulsive gambling, kleptomania, pyromania, or psychoactive substance abuse disorders resulting from the current illegal use of drugs.

The Americans with Disabilities Act vs. The Fair Employment and Housing Act

The legislature, as of January 1, 2001, in its findings and declarations, states that the "law of this state in the area of disabilities provides protections independent from those in the federal Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990." It further states that the FEHA has broad definitions of mental disability, physical disability and mental condition so that applicants and employees are protected from discrimination for actual or perceived disabilities, potential disabilities, or disabilities that are perceived to be potentially disabling.

Under the laws of this state, a disability must only "limit" a major life activity but the disability does not have to represent a "substantial limitation" as under federal law, to be considered a disability. Further, the determination as to whether a condition or disability limits a major life activity shall be determined without respect to any mitigating measures, unless the mitigating measure itself limits a major life activity.

Employment Inquiries

The Fair Employment and Housing Act prohibits any non-job related inquiries of employees or applicants, either verbally or through the use of an application form, that expresses, directly or indirectly, a limitation, specification or discrimination as to physical disability, mental disability and medical condition.

Applicants

The FEHA prohibits an employer from:

- Requiring any medical/psychological examination/inquiry of any applicant
- To make any inquiry whether an applicant has a mental/physical disability or medical condition; or
- To make an inquiry regarding the nature and severity of a mental/physical disability or medical condition.

However, an employer may inquire into the ability of an applicant to perform job related functions and may respond to an applicant's request for reasonable accommodation.

Once an employment offer has been made to an applicant, but before the start of duties, an employer may require a medical/psychological examination providing that the examination/inquiry is job related and consistent with business necessity and that all entering employees in the same job classification are subject to the same examination or inquiry.

Employees

An employer may not:

- Require any medical/psychological examination or inquiry of an employee, or ¹ Information on Employment Discrimination Based on Disability (DFEH-184, 04/04) was obtained from the State of California Department of Fair Employment & Housing.

- Inquire whether an employee has a mental/psychological disability or medical condition; or
- Inquire into the severity of the disability or condition.

However, an employer may require examinations or make inquiries that it can show are job-related and consistent with business necessity. An employer may conduct voluntary medical examinations, including medical histories, which are part of an employee health program available to employees at the worksite.

Discrimination

An employer who discriminates against a person because of his/her disability may do so only if the employer can demonstrate that:

1. The person is unable to perform the essential functions of the job and that no reasonable accommodation exists that would enable the person to perform the essential functions of the job; or
2. The person would create an imminent and substantial danger to himself/herself or a substantial danger to others by performing the job and that no reasonable accommodation exists that would remove or reduce the danger.

The following two reasons commonly raised by employers are not legally acceptable excuses for discriminating against disabled persons:

1. That there is the possibility of future harm to the person or to others.
2. That employing such individuals will cause an employer's insurance rates to rise.

Reasonable Accommodation

The employer is required under law to participate in a good faith interactive process to explore all possible means of reasonably accommodating a person prior to rejecting the person for a job or making any employment-related decision.

An accommodation is reasonable if it does not impose an undue hardship on the employer's business. Reasonable accommodation can include, but is not limited to, changing the job duties, changing the work shift, providing leaves for medical care, accommodating schedules, relocating the work area, and providing mechanical or electrical aids. An employer may obtain help from government agencies and outside experts to determine whether accommodation is possible.

Disabled employees may have separate rights to unpaid leaves under the California Family Rights Act (CFRA) or the federal Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA).

Independent Medical Opinion

An employer must allow an applicant the opportunity to submit an independent medical opinion if there is a dispute as to whether the person can perform the essential functions of a position. Failure to allow the submission of an independent medical opinion may be a separate violation of the law.

AIDS

California law recognizes AIDS as a disability, which may require an employer to provide reasonable accommodation to enable the employee to continue working as long as he/she is medically able. Employees who are perceived as having AIDS or who have been medically tested as HIV positive are also protected.

Employers should engage in activities that inform employees about AIDS and HIV by:

1. Ensuring that company policy states that an employee with AIDS or a HIV positive diagnosis will be treated as any other employee with a life-threatening ailment. The policy should also state that such employees may continue to work as long as they can perform their duties and medical evidence supports the same.
2. Developing an internal educational program that allays fear by communicating authoritative information on AIDS transmission; i.e., there is no known risk of AIDS transmission between an infected employee and other employees while engaged in their normal activities which may involve close contact at work.

Technical assistance is available from several sources:

AIDS Project, Los Angeles (323) 993-1600 provides employers and others with an "AIDS in the Workplace" program including printed material.

California HIV/AIDS Hotline
(800) 367-2437 (English or Spanish)
TTY (800) 553-2437 provides written materials, brochures, and information.

How the Law is Enforced

Employees or job applicants who believe that they have been discriminated against or harassed because of a disability may, within one year of the alleged discrimination, file a complaint of discrimination with the California Department of Fair Employment and Housing. The Department processes complaints filed by persons with terminal illnesses on a priority basis.

The Department serves as a neutral fact-finder and attempts to help the parties voluntarily resolve disputes. If the Department finds evidence of discrimination and settlement efforts fail, the Department may file a formal accusation. The accusation will lead to either a public hearing before the Fair Employment and Housing Commission or a lawsuit filed by the Department on behalf of the complaining party.

If the Commission finds that discrimination occurred, it can order remedies, not to exceed $150,000 in fines or damages for emotional distress from each employer or person charged. In addition, the Commission may order hiring or reinstatement, back pay, promotion, and changes in the policies or practices of the involved employer.

After a complaint is filed with the Department, a complainant may elect to pursue the matter through a lawsuit in civil court. Damages in court are unlimited.

Information on Employment Discrimination Based on Disability (DFEH-184, 04/04) was obtained from the State of California Department of Fair Employment & Housing.

DISCRIMINATION IS AGAINST THE LAW²

The Department of Fair Employment and Housing enforces the California state laws which prohibit harassment and discrimination in employment, housing, and public accommodations and which provide for pregnancy leave and family and personal medical leave. It also accepts and investigates complaints which prohibits hate violence or threats of hate violence.

Discrimination in Employment

Harassment and discrimination in employment is prohibited because of:

- Race
- Ancestry
- National Origin
- Color
- Sex
- Sexual Orientation
- Religion
- Disability (including HIV/AIDS diagnosis)
- Marital Status
- Age (40 and over)
- Medical Condition (cancer and genetic characteristics)
- Refusal of Family Care Leave
- Refusal of Leave for an Employee's Serious Health Condition
- Denial of Pregnancy Disability Leave
- Retaliation for Reporting Patient Abuse in Tax Supported Institutions

Discrimination is prohibited in all employment practices including:

- Advertisements
- Applications and interviews
- Hiring, transferring, promoting or leaving a job
- Working Conditions

California workers are also:

- Guaranteed leaves if disabled because of pregnancy
- Guaranteed reasonable accommodation for pregnancy
- Guaranteed leaves for the birth or adoption of a child, for an employee's serious health condition or to care for a parent, spouse or child with a serious health condition
- Protected from harassment because of their sex, race or any other category covered under the law
- Protected from retaliation for filing a complaint with the Department or for protesting possible violations of the law

California workers with disabilities are also entitled to reasonable accommodation when necessary in order to perform the job.

Discrimination in Housing

Laws enforced by the Department prohibit discrimination in the renting, leasing and selling of housing based on:

- Race
- Ancestry
- Sex
- National Origin
- Color
- Religion

² Information on Discrimination is Against the Law (DFEH-151, 04/04) was obtained from the State of California Department of Fair Employment & Housing.

- Sexual Orientation
- Marital Status
- Familial Status (Families with minor children)
- Disability (including HIV/AIDS diagnosis)
- Source of Income

Discrimination is prohibited in all aspects of the housing business including:

- Advertisements
- Mortgage lending and insurance
- Application and selection processes
- Terms, conditions and privileges of occupancy, including freedom from harassment
- Public and private land use practices including the existence of restrictive covenants

Persons with disabilities are entitled to reasonable accommodation in rules, policies, practices and services and are also permitted, at their own expense, to modify their dwelling to ensure full enjoyment of the premises.

As in employment discrimination law, persons are protected from retaliation for filing complaints.

Discrimination in Accommodations and Services

Discrimination in public services and accommodations is prohibited. The law requires “full and equal accommodations, advantages, facilities, privileges or services in ALL business establishments.” This includes:

- Hotels and Motels
- Non-Profit Organizations
- Restaurants
- Theaters
- Hospitals
- Barber and Beauty Shops
- Housing Accommodations
- Local Government and Public Agencies
- Retail Establishments

Hate Violence

It is against the law for any person to threaten or commit acts of violence against a person or property based on race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, age, disability, sex, sexual orientation, political affiliation or position in a labor dispute.

What the Department Does

The Department of Fair Employment and Housing enforces these laws by:

1. Investigating harassment, discrimination and denial of leave complaints;
2. Assisting involved parties to voluntarily resolve complaints;
3. Pursuing violations of the law to public hearing or filing a lawsuit; and
4. Educating Californians about the laws prohibiting harassment and discrimination.

Anyone who believes he/she is a victim of illegal discrimination can file a complaint with the Department. A person wishing to file a complaint should:

- Be prepared to present specific facts about the alleged harassment, discrimination or denial of leave;
- Provide copies of documents that substantiate the charges in the complaint; and
- Keep records and documents about the complaint, such as paycheck stubs, rent receipts, membership applications, etc.

The Department’s staff will conduct an impartial investigation. The Department is not an advocate for either the person complaining or the person complained against. The Department represents the State. The Department will, where possible, try to assist the parties to resolve the complaint.

If a voluntary settlement cannot be reached and there is evidence that indicates a violation of the law, the Department may issue an accusation and litigate the case before the Fair Employment and Housing Commission or in civil court. If the Commission or a court decides in favor of the complaining party, remedies can be ordered such as:

- The job or the housing denied to the complainant.
- Back pay or promotion or compensation for moving and relocation.
- Compensatory damages, including emotional distress damages and/or administrative fines.

The Department also educates the people of California regarding their rights and responsibilities under the law by providing written materials and participating in seminars and conferences.

PREGNANCY LEAVE³

The Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA), contains provisions relating to pregnancy leave. These provisions cover all employers with five or more employees. It is unlawful for an employer to discriminate in terms of compensation, conditions, or privileges of employment because of pregnancy. In addition, there are certain leave and transfer protections and guarantees provided under the FEHA and the California Family Rights Act (CFRA).

All employers must provide information about pregnancy leave rights to their employees and post this information in a conspicuous place where employees tend to gather. Employers who provide employee handbooks must include information about pregnancy leave in the handbook.

Leave Requirements

- An employee disabled by pregnancy is entitled to up to four months disability leave. If the employer provides more than four months of leave for other types of temporary disabilities, the same leave must be made available to women who are disabled due to pregnancy, childbirth, or a related medical condition.
- Leave can be taken before or after birth during any period of time the woman is physically unable to work because of pregnancy or a pregnancy-related condition. All leave taken in connection with a specific pregnancy counts toward computing the four-month period.
- Pregnancy leave is available when a woman is actually disabled. This includes time off needed for prenatal care, severe morning sickness, doctor-ordered bed rest, childbirth, recovery from childbirth, or any related medical condition.
- If an employee is disabled as the result of a condition related to pregnancy, childbirth, or associated medical conditions and requests reasonable accommodation upon the advice of her health-care provider, an employer must provide reasonable accommodation.
- As an accommodation, and with the advice of her physician, an employee can request transfer to a less strenuous or hazardous position for the duration of her pregnancy.
- Employees are entitled to take pregnancy disability leave in addition to any leave entitlement they might have under CFRA. For example, an employee could take four months pregnancy disability leave for her disability, and 12 weeks CFRA leave to bond with the baby; to bond with an adopted child; or to care for a parent, spouse, or child with a serious health condition. CFRA leave may also be taken for the employee's own serious health condition. For more information, see DFEH-188 "California Family Rights Act."
- If possible, an employee must provide her employer with at least 30 days advance notice of the date for which the pregnancy disability leave is sought or transfer begins and the estimated duration of the leave.
- If 30 days advance notice is not possible due to a change in circumstances or a medical emergency, notice must be given as soon as practical. The leave may be modified as a woman's changing medical condition dictates. If a woman desires to return earlier than agreed, an employer must reinstate her within two business days of her notice.

Salary and Benefits During Leave

- Employers who provide health insurance coverage for employees who take leave for non-pregnancy-related, temporary disabilities must provide coverage for employees who take leave for pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions.
- An employer may require an employee to use her accrued sick leave during any unpaid portion of her pregnancy disability leave. The employee may also use vacation leave credits to receive compensation during an otherwise unpaid portion of her pregnancy disability leave. An employer may not require an employee to use vacation leave or other accrued time off during pregnancy disability leave.

Return Rights

- After a pregnancy disability leave or transfer, employees are guaranteed a return to the same position and can request the guarantee in writing.
- If her same position is no longer available, such as in a layoff due to plant closure, the employer must offer a position that is comparable in terms of pay, location, job content, and promotional opportunities, unless the employer can prove that no comparable position exists.

Filing a Complaint

If you believe you are a victim of illegal discrimination, you can explore filing a complaint with the Department of Fair Employment and Housing (DFEH) by following these steps:

- Contact DFEH by calling the toll-free number at (800) 884-1684 to schedule an appointment or use our online appointment system at www.dfeh.ca.gov
- Be prepared to present specific facts about the alleged discrimination or denial of leave.
- Keep records and provide copies of documents that support the charges in the complaint, such as paycheck stubs, calendars, correspondence and other potential proof of discrimination.

Complaints must be filed within one year of the last act of discrimination.

DFEH will conduct an impartial investigation. We are not an advocate for either the person complaining or the person complained against. We represent the State of California. DFEH will, if possible, try to assist both parties to resolve the complaint.

If a voluntary settlement cannot be reached, and there is sufficient evidence to establish a violation of the law, DFEH may issue an accusation and litigate the case before the Fair Employment and Housing Commission or in civil court. If the Commission or court decides in favor of the complaining party, remedies may include reinstatement, back pay, reasonable attorney's fees, damages for emotional distress, and administrative fines.

CALIFORNIA FAMILY RIGHTS ACT⁴

Sections 12945.1 and 12945.2 of the Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA) contain provisions relating to family care and medical leave entitlement. The Fair Employment and Housing Commission's (FEHC) interpretation of these provisions is contained in Section 7297.0 of the California Code of Regulations.

In addition to the family care and medical leave requirements of the FEHA, employers of five or more persons have additional obligations pertaining to pregnancy disability leave.

The federal Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) also ensures family care or medical care leave entitlement (29 USC §§ 2601 et seq. Implementing regulations are contained in 29 CFR Part 825). The FMLA is enforced by the Wage and Hour Division of the US Department of Labor. The CFRA and pregnancy disability leave provisions of state law are enforced by the Department of Fair Employment and Housing (DFEH). Where differences between federal and state law exist, employers should comply with those provisions that are most beneficial to the employee.

This brochure addresses the most frequently asked questions regarding family care or medical leave entitlement.

Eligibility Requirements

For what reasons may an employee take a CFRA leave?

An employee may take an unpaid leave for the birth of a child for purposes of bonding, for placement of a child in the employee's family for adoption or foster care, for the serious health condition of the employee's child, parent, or spouse, and for the employee's own serious health condition.

What is a serious health condition?

Serious health condition means illness, injury (including on-the-job injuries), impairment, or physical or mental condition of the employee or a child, parent or spouse of the employee that involves either (1) inpatient care (i.e., an overnight stay) in a hospital, hospice, or residential health care facility or (2) continuing treatment or supervision by a health-care provider.

May an employer require a written medical certification of the serious health condition of the employee, employee's child, parent, or spouse before granting the leave?

Yes. The employer may require written communication from the health-care provider of the child, parent, spouse, or employee with a serious health condition. The employer may not require the certification to identify the serious health condition. Certification is sufficient if it includes (1) the date on which the serious health condition commenced, (2) the probable duration of the condition, (3) an estimate of the amount of time the employee needs to care for the sick family member, (4) a statement that the serious health condition warrants participation of a family member to provide care during the period of treatment or medical supervision, or (5) a statement that the employee, due to the serious health condition, is unable to perform one or more of the essential functions of his or her job.

May an employee take a CFRA leave due to a disability related to her pregnancy, childbirth, or related medical condition?

No. An employee has no right to a CFRA leave or a disability related to pregnancy, childbirth, or related medical condition. Separate leave entitlement is provided by the FEHA's pregnancy leave provisions covered in Government Code Section 12945 (b) (2). Under the FMLA, however, a pregnancy disability qualifies as a serious health condition and runs concurrently with California pregnancy disability leave.

What employers are covered under the CFRA?

Employers subject to the CFRA are those who do business in California and employ 50 or more part-time or full-time employees in any state. Covered employers include nonprofit, religious organizations, the State of California, including any political and civil subdivision of the state and cities, regardless of the number of employees.

What requirements must an employee satisfy to be eligible to take a CFRA leave?

To be eligible for a CFRA leave, an employee must be either a full-time or part-time employee working in California, have more than 12 months (52 weeks) of service with the employer, have worked at least 1,250 hours in the 12-month period before the date the leave begins, and work at a location in which the employer has at least 50 employees within 75 miles of the employee's work site.

Leave Requirements

What is the maximum CFRA-leave entitlement?

Leave may total up to 12 work weeks in a 12-month period. It does not need to be taken in one continuous period of time.

How is the 12-month period calculated?

An employer may choose how to compute the 12-month period in which the 12 work weeks of leave entitlement occurs using any of the four calculation methods allowed under the federal FMLA regulations listed below. An employer must, however, apply the chosen method consistently and uniformly to all employees.

These methods are:

1. The calendar year;
2. Any fixed “leave year” of 12 months, such as a fiscal year or a year starting on an employee’s anniversary date;
3. The 12-month period measured from the date an employee’s first FMLA/CFRA leave begins; or
4. A rolling 12-month period measured backward from the date an employee uses any leave.

To how much leave are the CFRA-eligible employees entitled? What if they work more or less than five days per week or work alternative work schedules?

The leave entitlement is 12 work weeks or 60 work days for full-time employees working a five-day, eight-hours-a-day work week during a 12-month period. For eligible employees who work more or less than five days a week or who work on alternative work schedules, the number of working days that constitutes 12 work weeks is calculated on a pro rata or proportional basis.

May the CFRA leave be added onto other forms of leave?

Yes. At the end of an employee’s period(s) of pregnancy disability leave, a CFRA-eligible employee may request a CFRA leave of up to 12 work weeks for reason of the birth of her child, if the child has been born by this date. There is no requirement that either the employee or child have a serious health condition. Nor is there a requirement that the employee no longer be disabled by her pregnancy, childbirth, or related medical condition before taking a CFRA leave for reason of the birth of her child.

Is there a minimum duration for a CFRA leave taken for the birth, adoption, or foster-care placement of a child?

Yes. The basic minimum duration of a CFRA leave is two weeks when the leave is taken for the birth, adoption, or foster-care placement of a child. However, an employer shall grant a request for a CFRA leave of less than two weeks duration on any two occasions. In addition, leave taken for the birth, adoption, or foster-care placement of a child must be completed within one year of the qualifying event.

Is there a minimum duration for a CFRA leave taken for the serious health condition of a parent, child, or spouse or for the serious health condition of the employee?

No. Where the CFRA leave is taken for the serious health condition of a parent, child, or spouse or for the serious health condition of the employee, leave may be taken intermittently or on a reduced work schedule when medically necessary, as determined by the health care provider of the person with the serious health condition. However, an employer may limit leave increments to the shortest period of time the employer’s payroll system uses to account for absences.

Are there any limitations to the CFRA leave entitlement?

Yes. If both parents are eligible for the CFRA leave but are employed by the same employer, that employer may limit leave for the birth, adoption, or foster-care placement of their child to 12 work weeks in a 12-month period between the two parents. No other limitations restrict these parents from taking a CFRA leave for other qualifying reasons.

Benefits

Must an employer pay employees during their CFRA leave?

No. An employer is not required to pay an employee during a CFRA leave, except when an eligible employee elects or the employer requires the employee to use any accrued vacation time or other accumulated paid leave other than accrued sick leave. However, if the CFRA leave is for the employee's own serious health condition, the employee may elect or the employer may require the employee to use any accrued vacation time or other accumulated paid leave, including any accrued sick leave. Additionally, accrued sick leave may be used for a CFRA leave granted for any other reason if mutually agreed to by the employer and employee.

Must an employer continue health care coverage for employees during their CFRA leave?

Yes. If the employer provides health benefits under any group health plan, the employer has an obligation to continue providing such benefits during an employee's CFRA leave, an FMLA leave, or both. This obligation commences on the date leave first begins under the FMLA (i.e., for pregnancy disability leave) or under the FMLA/CFRA (i.e., for all other family care or medical leaves). The obligation continues for the duration of the leave(s), up to a maximum of 12 work weeks in a 12-month period.

Must an employer continue other benefits during an employee's CFRA leave?

Yes. During the period of a CFRA leave, the employee is entitled to accrual of seniority and to participate in employee benefit plans, including life, short-term or long-term disability or accident insurance, pension and retirement plans, and supplemental unemployment benefit plans to the same extent and under the same conditions as would apply to any other leave granted by the employer for any reason other than a CFRA leave.

Reinstatement

Must an employer reinstate the employee at the end of his or her CFRA leave?

Yes. Upon granting an employee a CFRA leave, the employer shall guarantee reinstatement to the same or comparable position and shall provide the guarantee in writing upon the request of the employee. Employment in a comparable position means employment in a position that is virtually identical to the employee's original position in terms of pay, benefits, and working conditions, including privileges, prerequisites, and status. It must involve the same or substantially similar duties and responsibilities, skill, effort, and authority, must be performed at the same or geographically proximate work sited, and ordinarily means the same shift or same or equivalent work schedule.

Are there any reasons an employer could deny reinstatement to an employee out on a CFRA leave?

Yes. An employer may deny reinstatement to an employee if his or her position ceased to exist, such as in a lay-off. An employer may also deny reinstatement if the employee taking the leave is a key employee (salaried and among the highest-paid 10 percent), and the denial of reinstatement is necessary to prevent substantial and grievous economic injury to the operations of the employer. However, the employer must notify the employee of the intent to refuse reinstatement at the time the employer determines the refusal is necessary as well as give the employee a reasonable opportunity to return to work.

Notification

Must an employee give advance notice if he or she wants to take a CFRA leave?

Yes. An employee or employee's spokesperson shall provide at least verbal notice sufficient to make the employer aware the employee needs a CFRA-qualifying leave, state the reason for the leave, and the anticipated timing and duration of the leave. An employer may require 30 days advance notice before a CFRA leave is to begin if the need for the leave is foreseeable. If 30 days is not practicable (i.e., lack of knowledge of approximately when leave will be required to begin, a change in circumstances, or a medical emergency), notice must be given as soon as practicable. Under all circumstances, it is the employer's responsibility to designate leave, paid or unpaid, as CFRA or FMLA. In addition, the employer shall respond to a leave request as soon as possible but within ten calendar days after receiving the request.

Must an employer inform employees of notice requirements?

Yes. An employer shall provide notice to his or her employees of the right to request a CFRA leave and shall post the notice in a conspicuous place or places where employees tend to congregate. If the employer publishes a handbook describing other kinds of personal or disability leaves available to its employees, the employer shall include a description of a CFRA leave in its next edition. The employer may include both pregnancy disability leave and the CFRA leave requirements in a single notice.

EMPLOYEE RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES UNDER THE FAMILY AND MEDICAL LEAVE ACT⁵

Basic Leave Entitlement

FMLA requires covered employers to provide up to 12 weeks of unpaid, job-protected leave to eligible employees for the following reasons:

- For incapacity due to pregnancy, prenatal medical care or child birth;
- To care for the employee's child after birth, or placement for adoption or foster care;
- To care for the employee's spouse, son or daughter, or parent, who has a serious health condition; or
- For a serious health condition that makes the employee unable to perform the employee's job.

Military Family Leave Entitlements

Eligible employees with a spouse, son, daughter, or parent on active duty or call to covered active duty status may use their 12-week leave entitlement to address certain qualifying exigencies. Qualifying exigencies may include attending certain military events, arranging for alternative childcare, addressing certain financial and legal arrangements, attending certain counseling sessions, and attending post-deployment reintegration briefings.

FMLA also includes a special leave entitlement that permits eligible employees to take up to 26 weeks of leave to care for a covered servicemember during a single 12-month period. A covered servicemember is a current member of the Armed Forces, including a member of the National Guard or Reserves, who is undergoing medical treatment, recuperation, or therapy; is otherwise in outpatient status; or is otherwise on the temporary disability retired list, for a serious injury or illness*.

*The FMLA definitions of "serious injury or illness" for current service members and veterans are distinct from the FMLA definition of "serious health condition".

Benefits and Protections

During FMLA leave, the employer must maintain the employee's health coverage under any "group health plan" on the same terms as if the employee had continued to work. Upon return from FMLA leave, most employees must be restored to their original or equivalent positions with equivalent pay, benefits, and other employment terms.

Use of FMLA leave cannot result in the loss of any employment benefit that accrued prior to the start of an employee's leave.

Eligibility Requirements

Employees are eligible if they have worked for a covered employer for at least 12 months, have 1,250 hours of service in the previous 12 months*, and if at least 50 employees are employed by the employer within 75 miles.

*Special hours of service eligibility requirements apply to airline flight crew employees.

Definition of Serious Health Condition

A serious health condition is an illness, injury, impairment, or physical or mental condition that involves either an overnight stay in a medical care facility, or continuing treatment by a health care provider for a condition that either prevents the employee from performing the functions of the employee's job, or prevents the qualified family member from participating in school or other daily activities.

Subject to certain conditions, the continuing treatment requirement may be met by a period of incapacity of more than 3 consecutive calendar days combined with at least two visits to a health care provider or one visit and a regimen of continuing treatment, or incapacity due to pregnancy, or incapacity due to a chronic condition. Other conditions may meet the definition of continuing treatment.

Use of Leave

An employee does not need to use this leave entitlement in one block. Leave can be taken intermittently or on a reduced leave schedule when medically necessary. Employees must make reasonable efforts to schedule leave for planned medical treatment so as not to unduly disrupt the employer's operations. Leave due to qualifying exigencies may also be taken on an intermittent basis.

⁵ Information was obtained from the U.S. Department of Labor, Wage and Hour Division (WHD Publication 1420, 02/13)

Substitution of Paid Leave for Unpaid Leave

Employees may choose or employers may require use of accrued paid leave while taking FMLA leave. In order to use paid leave for FMLA leave, employees must comply with the employer's normal paid leave policies.

Employee Responsibilities

Employees must provide 30 days advance notice of the need to take FMLA leave when the need is foreseeable. When 30 days notice is not possible, the employee must provide notice as soon as practicable and generally must comply with an employer's normal call-in procedures.

Employees must provide sufficient information for the employer to determine if the leave may qualify for FMLA protection and the anticipated timing and duration of the leave. Sufficient information may include that the employee is unable to perform job functions, the family member is unable to perform daily activities, the need for hospitalization or continuing treatment by a health care provider, or circumstances supporting the need for military family leave. Employees also must inform the employer if the requested leave is for a reason for which FMLA leave was previously taken or certified. Employees also may be required to provide a certification and periodic recertification supporting the need for leave.

Employer Responsibilities

Covered employers must inform employees requesting leave whether they are eligible under FMLA. If they are, the notice must specify any additional information required as well as the employees' rights and responsibilities. If they are not eligible, the employer must provide a reason for the ineligibility.

Covered employers must inform employees if leave will be designated as FMLA-protected and the amount of leave counted against the employee's leave entitlement. If the employer determines that the leave is not FMLA-protected, the employer must notify the employee.

Unlawful Acts by Employers

FMLA makes it unlawful for any employer to:

- Interfere with, restrain, or deny the exercise of any right provided under FMLA;
- Discharge or discriminate against any person for opposing any practice made unlawful by FMLA or for involvement in any proceeding under or relating to FMLA.

Enforcement

An employee may file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Labor or may bring a private lawsuit against an employer.

FMLA does not affect any Federal or State law prohibiting discrimination, or supersede any State or local law or collective bargaining agreement which provides greater family or medical leave rights.

FMLA section 109 (29 U.S.C. § 2619) requires FMLA covered employers to post the text of this notice. Regulations 29 C.F.R. § 825.300(a) may require additional disclosures.

Under the federal Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA) and the California Family Rights Act (CFRA) you are entitled to take up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave in a 12 month period beginning with the date of commencement of leave for certain qualifying reasons. As an employee with the Fullerton School District you are also entitled to other types of paid and unpaid leave. To be eligible for FMLA leave you must have worked for at least one year prior to the leave and provided at least 1250 hours of service during the 12 months before leave commences.

Please be advised that when you utilize any District leave which qualifies under FMLA and/or CFRA, the leave requested will be counted against your annual Family and Medical Leave Act and/or California Family Rights Act entitlement of up to 12 weeks unpaid leave. Under District policy, any paid sick leave or other paid or unpaid leave that you have available will run concurrently with this unpaid statutory leave. Therefore, the Family Medical Leave Act and/or the California Family Rights Acts leave will be paid leave only to the extent you have such paid leave available to utilize.

Additionally, the District will maintain your group health benefit coverage under the District's plan at the same level prior to the FMLA/CFRA leave. Please note that if you do not return to work following the FMLA/CFRA leave, you may be required to reimburse the Fullerton School District for the District's share of health insurance premiums paid on your behalf during your FMLA/CFRA leave.

The District may also require you to furnish medical certification of a serious health condition. You will be notified in writing of this requirement and be given at least 15 days in which to furnish medical certification to the District. Additionally, you may be required to present a fitness for duty certification from your physician prior to returning to work and may require you to furnish periodic reports of your status and intent to return to work.

Upon your return from leave, you will be reinstated to the same or an equivalent position, in accordance with the collective bargaining agreement and state and federal law.

FMLA/CFRA and other types of leaves are explained under Personnel Services "About Your District" A Handbook for Certificated and Classified Staff. The Bane Civil Rights Act (California Civil Code section 52.1) forbids anyone from interfering by force or by threat of violence with a person's federal or state constitutional or statutory rights.

The acts forbidden by these civil laws may also be criminal acts and can expose violators to criminal penalties. A list of related criminal statutes is provided in this pamphlet.

What types of acts are forbidden by law?

The following types of acts are prohibited by law:

- Threats, verbal or written
- Physical assault or attempted assault
- Graffiti

How do these laws help?

These laws provide civil remedies for persons who have been victims of acts of violence or threats of violence because of race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, age, disability, sex, sexual orientation, political affiliation or position in a labor dispute.

Civil remedies available under the Ralph and Bane Civil Rights Acts include:

- RESTRAINING ORDERS: After a restraining order is obtained from a court, persons upon whom it is served can be fined or jailed.
- ACTUAL DAMAGES: These damages include the cost of medical treatment, lost wages, property repair or payment for emotional suffering and distress.
- PUNITIVE DAMAGES: A court can order additional damages to punish the wrongdoer.

What steps can be taken to exercise the rights provided by these laws?

1. Use this pamphlet. Show it to attorneys, police or governmental agencies when you contact them about the problem.
2. Report any violent threat or act to the police. Be sure to explain the connection between the violent threat or act and the protected class, e.g. race, sex, age, disability or sexual orientation, etc. Remember that this connection can also be based on an individual's protected status or that of groups with which the individual is associated.
3. In situations where the assailant is unknown and local law enforcement will not investigate, contact the California Attorney General at (800) 952-5225 or TTY (800) 952-5548.
4. In situations where the assailant is known, a complaint may be filed in court or with a governmental agency.

- A private lawsuit can be filed under California Civil Code section 52 to enforce the Ralph or Bane Civil Rights Acts. Remedies may include actual damages, attorney fees, punitive damages and civil penalties up to $25,000. The court may also issue a restraining order.
- A lawsuit must be filed within one to three years of the act or threat of violence. It is suggested that contact be made with an attorney prior to initiating a lawsuit.
- A complaint can be filed with the California Department of Fair Employment and Housing. An attorney is not required and there is no fee for the Department's service. Administrative remedies may include out-of-pocket losses, emotional distress damages up to $150,000 and civil penalties up to $25,000. The Department can also ask for a restraining order.

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) imposes numerous requirements on the use and disclosure of individual health information by employer health plans. This information, known as protected health information, includes almost all individually identifiable health information held by a plan – whether received in writing, in an electronic medium, or as an oral communication. This notice describes the privacy practices of these plans: Blue Cross PPO, Blue Cross California Care HMO, Kaiser Permanente, Delta Dental DPO, Delta Care PMI, and VSP Vision Care. The plans covered by this notice may share health information with each other to carry out treatment, payment, or health care operations. These plans are collectively referred to as the Plan in this notice, unless specified otherwise.

The Plan's duties with respect to health information about you

The Plan is required by law to maintain the privacy of your health information and to provide you with this notice of the Plan's legal duties and privacy practices with respect to your health information. If you participate in an insured plan or HMO option, you will receive a notice directly from the Insurer or HMO. It's important to note that these rules apply to the Plan, not Fullerton School District as an employer – that's the way the HIPAA rules work. Different policies may apply to other Fullerton School District programs or to data unrelated to the Plan.

How the Plan may use or disclose your health information

The privacy rules generally allow the use and disclosure of your health information without your permission (known as an authorization) for purposes of health care treatment, payment activities, and health care operations. Here are some examples of what that might entail:

- Treatment includes providing, coordinating, or managing health care by one or more health care providers or doctors. Treatment can also include coordination or management of care between a provider and a third party, and consultation and referrals between providers. For example, the Plan may share your health information with physicians who are treating you.
- Payment includes activities by this Plan, other plans, or providers to obtain premiums, make coverage determinations, and provide reimbursement for health care. This can include eligibility determinations, reviewing services for medical necessity or appropriateness, utilization management activities, claims management, and billing; as well as "behind the scenes" plan functions such as risk adjustment, collection, or reinsurance. For example, the Plan may share information about your coverage or the expenses you have incurred with another health plan in order to coordinate payment of benefits.
- Health care operations include activities by this Plan (and in limited circumstances other plans or providers) such as wellness and risk assessment programs, quality assessment and improvement activities, customer service, and internal grievance resolution. Health care operations also include vendor evaluations, credentialing, training, accreditation activities, underwriting, premium rating, arranging for medical review and audit activities, and business planning and development. For example, the Plan may use information about your claims to audit the third parties that approve payment for Plan benefits.

The amount of health information used, disclosed or requested will be limited and, when needed, restricted to the minimum necessary to accomplish the intended purposes, as defined under the HIPAA rules. If the Plan uses or discloses PHI for underwriting purposes, the Plan will not use or disclose PHI that is your genetic information for such purposes. The Plan may contact you to provide appointment reminders or information about treatment alternatives or other health-related benefits and services that may be of interest to you, as permitted by law.

How the Plan may share your health information with Fullerton School District

The Plan, or its health insurer or HMO, may disclose your health information without your written authorization to Fullerton School District for plan administration purposes. [District] may need your health information to administer benefits under the Plan. [District] agrees not to use or disclose your health information other than as permitted or required by the Plan documents and by law. Employees from Benefits, Personnel, Payroll and Financial Services are the only Fullerton School District employees who will have access to your health information for plan administration functions.

Here's how additional information may be shared between the Plan and Fullerton School District, as allowed under the HIPAA rules:

- The Plan, or its insurer or HMO, may disclose “summary health information” to Fullerton School District if requested, for purposes of obtaining premium bids to provide coverage under the Plan, or for modifying, amending, or terminating the Plan. Summary health information is information that summarizes participants’ claims information, from which names and other identifying information have been removed.
- The Plan, or its insurer or HMO, may disclose to Fullerton School District information on whether an individual is participating in the Plan or has enrolled or disenrolled in an insurance option or HMO offered by the Plan.

In addition, you should know that Fullerton School District cannot and will not use health information obtained from the Plan for any employment-related actions. However, health information collected by Fullerton School District from other sources, for example under the Family and Medical Leave Act, Americans with Disabilities Act, or workers’ compensation is not protected under HIPAA (although this type of information may be protected under other federal or state laws).

Other allowable uses or disclosures of your health information

In certain cases, your health information can be disclosed without authorization to a family member, close friend, or other person you identify who is involved in your care or payment for your care. Information about your location, general condition, or death may be provided to a similar person (or to a public or private entity authorized to assist in disaster relief efforts). You’ll generally be given the chance to agree or object to these disclosures (although exceptions may be made – for example, if you’re not present or if you’re incapacitated). In addition, your health information may be disclosed without authorization to your legal representative.

The Plan also is allowed to use or disclose your health information without your written authorization for the following activities:

Workers’ compensation	Disclosures to workers’ compensation or similar legal programs that provide benefits for work-related injuries or illness without regard to fault, as authorized by and necessary to comply with the laws
Necessary to prevent serious threat to health or safety	Disclosures made in the good-faith belief that releasing your health information is necessary to prevent or lessen a serious and imminent threat to public or personal health or safety, if made to someone reasonably able to prevent or lessen the threat (or to the target of the threat); includes disclosures to help law enforcement officials identify or apprehend an individual who has admitted participation in a violent crime that the Plan reasonably believes may have caused serious physical harm to a victim, or where it appears the individual has escaped from prison or from lawful custody
Public health activities	Disclosures authorized by law to persons who may be at risk of contracting or spreading a disease or condition; disclosures to public health authorities to prevent or control disease or report child abuse or neglect; and disclosures to the Food and Drug Administration to collect or report adverse events or product defects

Victims of abuse, neglect, or domestic violence	Disclosures to government authorities, including social services or protected services agencies authorized by law to receive reports of abuse, neglect, or domestic violence, as required by law or if you agree or the Plan believes that disclosure is necessary to prevent serious harm to you or potential victims (you'll be notified of the Plan's disclosure if informing you won't put you at further risk)
Judicial and administrative proceedings	Disclosures in response to a court or administrative order, subpoena, discovery request, or other lawful process (the Plan may be required to notify you of the request or receive satisfactory assurance from the party seeking your health information that efforts were made to notify you or to obtain a qualified protective order concerning the information)
Law enforcement purposes	Disclosures to law enforcement officials required by law or legal process, or to identify a suspect, fugitive, witness, or missing person; disclosures about a crime victim if you agree or if disclosure is necessary for immediate law enforcement activity; disclosure about a death that may have resulted from criminal conduct; and disclosure to provide evidence of criminal conduct on the Plan's premises
Decedents	Disclosures to a coroner or medical examiner to identify the deceased or determine cause of death; and to funeral directors to carry out their duties
Organ, eye, or tissue donation	Disclosures to organ procurement organizations or other entities to facilitate organ, eye, or tissue donation and transplantation after death
Research purposes	Disclosures subject to approval by institutional or private privacy review boards, subject to certain assurances and representations by researchers about the necessity of using your health information and the treatment of the information during a research project
Health oversight activities	Disclosures to health agencies for activities authorized by law (audits, inspections, investigations, or licensing actions) for oversight of the health care system, government benefits programs for which health information is relevant to beneficiary eligibility, and compliance with regulatory programs or civil rights laws
Specialized government functions	Disclosures about individuals who are Armed Forces personnel or foreign military personnel under appropriate military command; disclosures to authorized federal officials for national security or intelligence activities; and disclosures to correctional facilities or custodial law enforcement officials about inmates
HHS investigations	Disclosures of your health information to the Department of Health and Human Services to investigate or determine the Plan's compliance with the HIPAA privacy rule

Except as described in this notice, other uses and disclosures will be made only with your written authorization. You may revoke your authorization as allowed under the HIPAA rules. However, you can't revoke your authorization with respect to disclosures the Plan has already made. You will be notified of any unauthorized access, use or disclosure of your unsecured health information as required by law.

Your individual rights

You have the following rights with respect to your health information the Plan maintains. These rights are subject to certain limitations, as discussed below. This section of the notice describes how you may exercise each individual right. See the table at the end of this notice for information on how to submit requests.

Right to request restrictions on certain uses and disclosures of your health information and the Plan's right to refuse

You have the right to ask the Plan to restrict the use and disclosure of your health information for treatment, payment, or health care operations, except for uses or disclosures required by law. You have the right to ask the Plan to restrict the use and disclosure of your health information to family members, close friends, or other persons you identify as being involved in your care or payment for your care. You also have the right to ask the Plan to restrict use and disclosure of health information to notify those persons of your location, general condition, or death – or to coordinate those efforts with entities assisting in disaster relief efforts. If you want to exercise this right, your request to the Plan must be in writing.

The Plan is not required to agree to a requested restriction. If the Plan does agree, a restriction may later be terminated by your written request, by agreement between you and the Plan (including an oral agreement), or unilaterally by the Plan for health information created or received after you're notified that the Plan has removed the restrictions. The Plan may also disclose health information about you if you need emergency treatment, even if the Plan has agreed to a restriction.

Effective Feb. 17, 2010, an entity covered by these HIPAA rules (such as your health care provider) or its business associate must comply with your request that health information regarding a specific health care item or service not be disclosed to the Plan for purposes of payment or health care operations if you have paid for the item or service, in full out of pocket.

Right to receive confidential communications of your health information

If you think that disclosure of your health information by the usual means could endanger you in some way, the Plan will accommodate reasonable requests to receive communications of health information from the Plan by alternative means or at alternative locations.

If you want to exercise this right, your request to the Plan must be in writing and you must include a statement that disclosure of all or part of the information could endanger you.

Right to inspect and copy your health information

With certain exceptions, you have the right to inspect or obtain a copy of your health information in a “designated record set.” This may include medical and billing records maintained for a health care provider; enrollment, payment, claims adjudication, and case or medical management record systems maintained by a plan; or a group of records the Plan uses to make decisions about individuals. However, you do not have a right to inspect or obtain copies of psychotherapy notes or information compiled for civil, criminal, or administrative proceedings. The Plan may deny your right to access, although in certain circumstances you may request a review of the denial.

If you want to exercise this right, your request to the Plan must be in writing. Within 30 days of receipt of your request (60 days if the health information is not accessible onsite), the Plan will provide you with one of these responses:

- The access or copies you requested
- A written denial that explains why your request was denied and any rights you may have to have the denial reviewed or file a complaint
- A written statement that the time period for reviewing your request will be extended for no more than 30 more days, along with the reasons for the delay and the date by which the Plan expects to address your request.

The Plan may provide you with a summary or explanation of the information instead of access to or copies of your health information, if you agree in advance and pay any applicable fees. The Plan also may charge reasonable fees for copies or postage. If the Plan doesn't maintain the health information but knows where it is maintained, you will be informed of where to direct your request.

Effective February 17, 2010, you may request an electronic copy of your health information if it is maintained in an electronic health record. You may also request that such electronic health information be sent to another entity or person, so long as that request is clear, conspicuous and specific. Any charge that is assessed to you for these copies, if any, must be reasonable and based on the Plan's cost.

Right to amend your health information that is inaccurate or incomplete

With certain exceptions, you have a right to request that the Plan amend your health information in a designated record set. The Plan may deny your request for a number of reasons. For example, your request may be denied if the health information is accurate and complete, was not created by the Plan (unless the person or entity that created the information is no longer available), is not part of the designated record set, or is not available for inspection (e.g., psychotherapy notes or information compiled for civil, criminal, or administrative proceedings).

If you want to exercise this right, your request to the Plan must be in writing, and you must include a statement to support the requested amendment. Within 60 days of receipt of your request, the Plan will provide one of these responses:

- Make the amendment as requested
- Provide a written denial that explains why your request was denied and any rights you may have to disagree or file a complaint
- Provide a written statement that the time period for reviewing your request will be extended for no more than 30 more days, along with the reasons for the delay and the date by which the Plan expects to address your request.

Right to receive an accounting of disclosures of your health information

You have the right to a list of certain disclosures of your health information the Plan has made. This is often referred to as an “accounting of disclosures.” You generally may receive this accounting if the disclosure is required by law, in connection with public health activities, or in similar situations listed in the table earlier in this notice, unless otherwise indicated below.

You may receive information on disclosures of your health information for up to six years before the date of your request. You do not have a right to receive an accounting of disclosures made for any of these reasons:

- For treatment, payment, or health care operations
- To you about your own health information
- Incidental to other permitted or required disclosures
- In situations where authorization was provided
- To family members or friends involved in your care (where disclosure is permitted without authorization)
- For national security or intelligence purposes or to correctional institutions or law enforcement officials in certain circumstances
- As part of a “limited data set” (health information that excludes certain identifying information)

In addition, your right to an accounting of disclosures to a health oversight agency or law enforcement official may be suspended at the request of the agency or official.

If you want to exercise this right, your request to the Plan must be in writing. Within 60 days of the request, the Plan will provide you with the list of disclosures or a written statement that the time period for providing this list will be extended for no more than 30 more days, along with the reasons for the delay and the date by which the Plan expects to address your request. You may make one request in any 12-month period at no cost to you, but the Plan may charge a fee for subsequent requests. You’ll be notified of the fee in advance and have the opportunity to change or revoke your request.

Right to obtain a paper copy of this notice from the Plan upon request

You have the right to obtain a paper copy of this privacy notice upon request. Even individuals who agreed to receive this notice electronically may request a paper copy at any time.

Changes to the information in this notice

The Plan must abide by the terms of the privacy notice currently in effect. This notice takes effect on July 1, 2013. However, the Plan reserves the right to change the terms of its privacy policies, as described in this notice, at any time and to make new provisions effective for all health information that the Plan maintains. This includes health information that was previously created or received, not just health information created or received after the policy is changed. If changes are made to the Plan’s privacy policies described in this notice, you will be informed via email and the changes will be updated in the employee handbook and posted on the website.

Complaints

If you believe your privacy rights have been violated or your Plan has not followed its legal obligations under HIPAA, you may complain to the Plan and to the Secretary of Health and Human Services. You won't be retaliated against for filing a complaint. To file a complaint, employees can access the uniform complaint form from the district web or contact Personnel Services for the form

MEDICARE

All employees contribute 1.45% towards Medicare unless you were hired prior to 1986 and opted not to contribute.

The Social Security Administration recommends that you sign up for Medicare three months before reaching age 65 “even if you don’t plan to receive monthly benefits. Otherwise, your Medicare medical insurance, as well as prescription drug coverage, could be delayed and you could be charged higher premiums. For more information about eligibility and costs, visit www.medicare.gov.”

Below is important information concerning yourself and/or your spouse.

A retiree who reaches the age of 65 is no longer covered by health benefits through the District. The FSD retiree’s health benefits will end the first of the month he/she turns 65 as will the spouse covered under the retiree’s District health benefits. It is the retiree’s responsibility to sign up for Medicare and/or supplemental coverage three months prior to turning 65.

A retiree’s spouse covered under the FSD retiree’s health benefits who has reached Medicare eligibility is required to apply for Medicare (Part A and B) three months prior to turning 65. This plan allows the spouse to maintain the District health coverage on a senior plan and also receive coverage through Medicare. The spouse will incur a premium with Medicare.

Employees who have FSD health benefits should contact Medicare to determine whether it is to their advantage to sign for Medicare (Part A) now or upon retirement. Medicare would become the “secondary payer” and may enhance coverage. The spouse who is covered under the employee’s plan and has reached Medicare eligibility should anticipate signing up for Medicare (Part A) and possibly (part B) three months prior to turning 65.

Please remember that spouses only continue to maintain FSD health benefits while the employee/retiree is covered, no matter what the age of the spouse.

Please refer to www.ssa.gov/mediinfo.htm or www.medicare.gov/publications/pubs/pdf/10050.pdf for information and/or publications regarding Medicare eligibility; or call 1-800-772-1213.

Employee Safety

EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS & SAFETY

All District staff must be prepared to respond quickly and responsibly to emergencies, disasters and events that threaten to result in disaster. To this end, the Fullerton School District has developed emergency response plans for its school sites, District Office and Food Services Complex that are NIMS (National Incident Management System) and SEMS (State Emergency Management System) compliant, which contain the details for handling all foreseeable emergencies and disasters.

By signing the Oath of Allegiance upon employment with the Fullerton School District, as a public employee you may be asked to serve as a Disaster Service Worker in the event of a disaster pursuant to California Government Code Section 3100-3109. For more information concerning this status, please see the attached Public Employee Disaster Service Worker Status brochure developed by the Orange County Department of Education.

More information regarding emergencies and disaster preparedness plans may be found in Board Policy 3516 and Regulation 3516 contained in this handbook.

ASBESTOS PROGRAM MANAGEMENT PLAN

The Fullerton School District (FSD) conducts periodic inspections of all FSD buildings for the presence of asbestos-containing building materials (ACBM). Inspections are conducted in compliance with the requirements of the Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act (AHERA) found in Title 40, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 763, Paragraph 763.85(b).

Information gathered from inspections is compiled and maintained at each school office. These documents are available for review during normal working hours, 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

ACBM managed by the Fullerton School District does not pose a hazard to staff or students. The Fullerton School District Maintenance staff takes precautions to protect ACBM from damage and monitors its condition on an ongoing basis.

All questions concerning the Management Plan or Fullerton School District compliance with Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) asbestos regulations should be directed to the Fullerton School District Maintenance and Operations Department.

Notice Of Personal Chiropractic Or Personal Acupuncturist

If your employer or your employer's insurer does not have a Medical Provider Network (MPN), you may be able to change your treating physician to your personal chiropractor (D.C.) or acupuncturist (L.A.C.) following a work-related injury/illness. In order to be eligible to make this change, you must give your employer the name and business address of a personal D.C. or L.A.C. in writing prior to the injury/illness. York generally has the right to select your treating physician within the first 30 days after your employer knows of your injury/illness. After your employer or York has initiated your treatment with another physician during this period, you may then, upon request, have your treatment transferred to your personal D.C. or L.A.C. You may use this form to notify your employer of your personal D.C. or L.A.C. or your employer may have their own form. The D.C. or L.A.C. must be your regular D.C. or L.A.C. who has directed your treatment and retains your chiropractic records and history. If your employer has an MPN, you may only switch to a D.C. or L.A.C. within the MPN. A chiropractor cannot be your treating physician after 24 visits. If you still require medical treatment thereafter, you will have to select a physician who is not a chiropractor. This prohibition shall not apply to visits for post-surgical physical medicine visits prescribed by the surgeon, or physician designated by the surgeon, under the post-surgical component of the Division of Workers' Compensation's Medical Treatment Utilization Schedule.

Approved by Division of Workers' Compensation

What is workers' compensation? Its purpose is to insure that an employee who is found to sustain an industrial injury or illness will be provided with benefits to medically cure or relieve them from the effects of the injury/illness, provide temporary compensation when they are medically unable to perform any occupational function, compensation for any residual handicap and/or impairment of bodily function, benefits for dependents if an employee dies as a result of an injury/illness, protection from discrimination by his/her employer because of the injury/illness.

Am I Covered? Nearly every person employed in California is protected by workers' compensation, however there are a few exceptions. People that are self-employed or volunteer workers may not be covered. Similar laws cover federal and maritime workers. York Risk Services Group (York) is your employer's claims administrator. Your employer or York can answer any questions you might have about coverage.

What Does Workers' Compensation Cover? If you have an injury/illness due to your job, it is covered. The cause can be a single event, like a fall or it can be due to repeated exposures, such as hearing loss due to constant loud noises, injuries ranging from first-aid to serious accidents are covered. Even injuries related to workplace crimes, such as psychological or physical injuries, are covered under workers' compensation. Some injuries that result from voluntary activity, such as off duty social or athletic activities may not be covered. Check with your employer or York if you have questions. Coverage begins the moment you start your job. There is no probationary period or wage rate.

Duty Of The Employee. Immediately notify your employer or York so you can get the medical help that you need without delay. If your injury is greater than a first-aid injury, your supervisor will give you a Claim Form (Form DWC-1) for you to describe where, when and how it happened. To submit a claim, fill out the "Employee" section of the DWC-1. Keep one copy of this form and give the remaining pages to your supervisor. Your employer will fill out the "Employer" section and return a signed and dated copy of the form to you. Your employer will keep a copy of this form and forward another to York. York is in charge of handling your claim and informing you about your eligibility for benefits.

Your claim benefits do not start until your employer knows about your injury, so report and file the DWC-1 as quickly as possible. California law requires your employer to authorize medical treatment within one working day of receipt of your Claim Form. Employers are liable for up to $10,000 in treatment pending a decision by York for a claim to be accepted or rejected. Wanting to report may delay workers' compensation benefits. You may not receive benefits if you file a claim within one year of the date of injury, the date you know the injury was work related, or the date benefits were last provided.

Duty of the Employer: Provide this form to every employee at the time of hire or by the end of their first pay period.

Within one working day, upon knowledge or notice from any source of a work injury/illness greater than first-aid, provide the employee with a Claim Form (DWC-1) and authorize medical treatment and report the claim to York Risk Services Group.

What are the benefits? You may be entitled to various kinds of benefits under California workers' compensation law including:

Medical Care: Medical treatment that is reasonably required to cure or relieve the injured worker from the effects of the injury/illness. There is no deductible or co-payment. These medical benefits may include lab tests, physical therapy, hospital services, medication and treatment by a doctor.

State law limits certain medical services as of January 1, 2004. You should never receive a medical bill. If additional treatment is necessary, York will coordinate medical care that meets applicable treatment guidelines for the injury. The doctor may be a specialist for your specific type of injury, and he or she will be familiar with workers' compensation requirements and will report promptly to York so your benefits can be paid.

The physician with overall responsibility for treating your injury/illness is your primary treating physician (PTP). The PTP decides what kind of medical care you need and if you have work restrictions. If necessary, the PTP will review your job description with you and your employer to define any limitation or restrictions that you may have. This doctor also is responsible for coordinating care between other medical providers and will write reports about any permanent impairment of bodily function(s) or the need for future medical care. Generally, your employer selects the PTP you will see for the first 30 days, but if you want to change doctors for any reason, ask your employer or York. They're as interested as you are in your prompt recovery and return to work and will select a different doctor for you. If your employer has a Medical Provider Network (MPN) you will be directed to treat with a physician within the MPN and different rules apply regarding changing your physician.

You can be treated by your personal physician or medical group immediately if you have health care insurance for injuries or illness that are not work related, and your physician agrees in advance to treat you for any work injury/illness and has previously directed your treatment and retains your medical records and agrees, prior to your injury/illness, to treat you for workplace injury/illnesses and you give your employer your physician's name and address in writing before the injury. You may use the form inside of this pamphlet or your employer may have a form for you to use.

If you give the name of your personal chiropractor or acupuncturist, different rules apply, and you may need to see an employer-selected physician first.

Temporary Disability Benefits: If you are not medically able to work for more than three days due to your work-related injury, counting weekends, you have a right to temporary disability (TD) payments to assist subsidizing your lost wages. After two weeks from reporting the injury, you will receive a check. If your employer has a salary continuation plan, your benefit may be included in your regular paycheck. TD is payable every 14 days until the doctor states you can return to work (Payments won't be made for the first three days, though, unless you're hospitalized as an inpatient or unable to work more than 14 days). The amount of the payments will be two-thirds of your average wage, subject to minimums and maximums set by the state legislature. Although the TD payment will not be the full amount of your regular paycheck, there are no deductions and the payments are tax-free. For injuries occurring on or after January 1, 2008, TD payments are limited to 104 compensable weeks within five years of date of injury. For a few long-term injuries such as chronic lung disease or severe burns, TD payments can last up to 240 weeks within five years from the date of injury. If you reach the maximum TD payment period before you can return to work or before your condition becomes permanent and stationary. See the "Other Benefits" section of this pamphlet for additional information. A timely filing with Employment Development Department may result in additional State Disability Benefits when TD benefits are delayed, denied, or terminated.

Permanent Disability: If your doctor says your injury will always leave you with some permanent impairment of bodily function(s), you may receive permanent disability (PD) payments. The amount depends on the doctor's report, how much of the PD was directly caused by your work, and factors such as your age, occupation, type of injury, and date of injury. State law determines minimum and maximum amounts, and they vary by injury date. If you are entitled to PD, York will send you a letter explaining how the benefit was calculated. If the injury causes PD, the first payment of PD benefits is made within 14 days after the last payment of TD, unless your employer has offered you a position that pays at least 85% of your date of injury wages or if you are returned to a position that pays you 100% of the wages and compensation paid to you on the date of injury, the PD would be paid after an Award Issues.

Supplemental Job Displacement Benefit (SJDB): If you have a permanent whole person impairment, the eligibility for SJDB begins when your employer does not offer regular work, permanent, modified, or alternative work within 60 days of the receipt of a doctor's Medical Maximum Improvement (MMI) report. This is a nontransferable voucher for education-related, retraining and/or skill development at state-approved schools, tools, licensing, certification fees and other resources as possible benefits. If you qualify for the supplemental job displacement benefit, York will provide a voucher up to a maximum of $6,000.

Death Benefits: If the injury/illness causes death, payments may be made to your dependents. State law sets these benefits and the total benefit depends on the number of dependents. The payments are made at the same rate as TD payments. In addition, workers' compensation provides a burial allowance.

Discrimination: It is a violation of Labor Code Section 132(n) and illegal for your employer to punish or fire you for having a workplace injury/illness, for filing a claim or for testifying in another person's workers' compensation case. If your employer is found guilty of discrimination, you would be entitled to increased benefits, reinstatement and reimbursement for lost wages and benefits.

Other Benefits: Sometimes people confuse workers' compensation with State Disability Insurance (SDI). Workers' compensation covers on-the-job injured fitness and is paid for by your employer or their insurance. On the other hand, SDI covers off-the-job injuries or illnesses, and is paid for by deductions from your paycheck. If you are not getting workers' compensation benefits, you may be able to get State Disability benefits. Contact the local office of the State Employment Development Department listed in the government pages of your phone book for more information.

You may be eligible to access the return-to-work fund, for the purposes of making supplemental payments to injured worker's whose PD benefits are disproportionately low in comparison to their earnings loss. If you have questions or think you qualify, contact the Information & Assistance office listed in this pamphlet or visit the DIR website at www.dir.ca.gov.

If You Still Have Questions... ask your supervisor or employer representatives. Or contact York at the number indicated on workers' compensation posters at work and on this brochure. You can also contact the State Division of Workers' Compensation (DWC) and speak with an Information and Assistance Officer. These officers are available to review problems, answer questions and provide additional written information about workers' compensation at no charge. The local office is listed below and posted at your workplace. You can also call 800-736-7401 or visit the DWC website at <http://www.dir.ca.gov/dwc>.

WORKERS' COMPENSATION FRAUD IS A FELONY

Anyone who makes or causes to be made any knowingly false or fraudulent material statement for the purpose of obtaining or denying workers' compensation benefits or payments is guilty of a felony. Fines can be up to $150,000 and imprisonment up to five years.

Board Policy Anti-Bullying

BP 5131.2

Students

Board Adopted: June 19, 2012

Board Revised: November 15, 2016, August 14, 2018

The Board of Trustees for the Fullerton School District recognizes the harmful effects of bullying on student learning and school attendance and desires to provide safe school environments that protect students from physical and emotional harm. District employees shall establish student safety as a high priority and shall not tolerate bullying of any student.

No individual or group shall, through physical, written, verbal, or other means, harass, sexually harass, threaten, intimidate, retaliate, cyberbully, cause bodily injury to, or commit hate violence against any other student or school personnel.

In addition, Penal Code 653.2 makes it a crime to distribute another person's personally identifiable information electronically with the intent to cause harassment by a third party and to threaten a person's safety or that of his/her family (e.g., placing a person's address online so that he/she receives harassing messages).

Cyberbullying includes the electronic creation or transmission of harassing communications, direct threats, or other harmful texts, sounds, or images as defined in Education Code 48900. Cyberbullying also includes breaking into another person's electronic account and assuming that person's identity in order to damage or victimize that person's reputation.

Strategies for addressing bullying in District schools shall be developed with involvement of key stakeholders, including students, parents/guardians, and staff, in accordance with law, Board policy, and administrative regulation and may be incorporated into the comprehensive safety plan, the local control and accountability plan, and other applicable District and school plans.

As appropriate, the Superintendent or designee may collaborate with law enforcement, courts, social services, mental health services, other agencies, and community organizations in the development and implementation of joint strategies to promote safety in schools and the community and to provide services for alleged victims and perpetrators of bullying.

Bullying Prevention

To the extent possible, District and school strategies shall focus on prevention of bullying by establishing clear rules for student conduct and implementing strategies to establish a positive, collaborative school climate. Students shall be informed, through student handbooks and other appropriate means, of District and school rules related to bullying, mechanisms available for reporting incidents or threats, and the consequences for engaging in bullying.

As appropriate, the District shall provide students with instruction, in the classroom or other educational settings, that promotes social-emotional learning, effective communication and conflict resolution skills, character/values education, respect for cultural and individual differences, self-esteem development, assertiveness skills, and appropriate online behavior.

Such instruction shall also educate students about the negative impact of bullying, discrimination, intimidation, and harassment based on actual or perceived immigration status, religious beliefs and customs, or any other individual bias or prejudice.

The Superintendent or designee shall provide training to teachers and other school staff to raise their awareness about the legal obligation of the District and its employees to prevent discrimination, harassment, intimidation, and bullying of District students. Such training shall be designed to provide staff with the skills to:

1. Discuss the diversity of the student body and school community, including their varying immigration experiences
2. Discuss bullying prevention strategies with students, and teach students to recognize the behavior and characteristics of bullying perpetrators and victims
3. Identify the signs of bullying or harassing behavior
4. Take immediate corrective action when bullying is observed
5. Report incidents to the appropriate authorities, including law enforcement in instances of criminal behavior

Based on an assessment of bullying incidents at school, the Superintendent or designee may increase supervision and security in areas where bullying most often occurs, such as classrooms, playgrounds, hallways, restrooms, and or cafeterias.

Intervention

Students are encouraged to notify school staff when they are being bullied or suspect that another student is being victimized. In addition, the Superintendent or designee shall develop means for students to report threats or incidents confidentially and anonymously.

School staff who witness bullying shall immediately intervene to stop the incident when it is safe to do so. (Education Code 234.1)

When appropriate, based on the severity or pervasiveness of the bullying, the Superintendent or designee shall notify the parents/guardians of victims and perpetrators and may contact law enforcement.

The Superintendent, principal, or principal's designee may refer a victim, witness, perpetrator, or other student affected by an act of bullying to a school counselor, school psychologist, social worker, child welfare attendance personnel, school nurse, or other school support service personnel for case management, counseling, and/or participation in a restorative justice program as appropriate. (Education Code 48900.9)

Reporting and Filing of Complaints

Any student, parent/guardian, or other individual who believes that a student has been subjected to bullying or who has witnessed bullying may report the incident to a teacher, the principal a compliance officer, or any other available school employee. Within one business day of receiving such a report, a staff member shall notify the principal of the report, whether or not a uniform complaint is filed. In addition, any school employee who observes an incident of bullying involving a student shall, within one business day, report his/her observation to the principal or a District compliance officer, whether or not the alleged victim files a complaint.

Within two business days of receiving a report of bullying, the principal shall notify the District compliance officer identified in AR 1312.3 - Uniform Complaint Procedures.

When the circumstances involve cyberbullying, individuals with information about the activity shall be encouraged to save and print any electronic or digital messages that they feel constitute cyberbullying and to notify a teacher, the principal, or other employee so that the matter may be investigated. When a student uses a social networking site or service to bully or harass another student, the Superintendent or designee may file a request with the networking site or service to suspend the privileges of the student and to have the material removed.

When a report of bullying is submitted, the principal or District compliance officer shall inform the student or parent/guardian of the right to file a formal written complaint in accordance with AR 1312.3. The student who is the alleged victim of the bullying shall be given an opportunity to describe the incident, identify witnesses who may have relevant information, and provide other evidence of bullying.

Investigation and Resolution of Complaints

Any complaint of bullying shall be investigated and, if determined to be discriminatory, resolved in accordance with law and the District's uniform complaint procedures specified in AR 1312.3,

The mandated reporter shall make an initial report to the agency immediately or as soon as is practicably possible by telephone and the mandated reporter shall prepare and send, fax, or electronically transmit a written followup report thereof within 36 hours of receiving the information concerning the incident. The mandated reporter may include with the report any nonprivileged documentary evidence the mandated reporter possesses relating to the incident.

(1) For purposes of this article, reasonable suspicion means that it is objectively reasonable for a person to entertain a suspicion, based upon facts that could cause a reasonable person in a like position, drawing, when appropriate, on his or her training and experience, to suspect child abuse or neglect. Reasonable suspicion does not require certainty that child abuse or neglect has occurred nor does it require a specific medical indication of child abuse or neglect; any reasonable suspicion is sufficient. For the purpose of this article, the pregnancy of a minor does not, in and of itself, constitute a basis for a reasonable suspicion of sexual abuse.

(2) The agency shall be notified and a report shall be prepared and sent, faxed, or electronically transmitted even if the child has expired, regardless of whether or not the possible abuse was a factor contributing to the death, and even if suspected child abuse was discovered during an autopsy.

(3) Any report made by a mandated reporter pursuant to this section shall be known as a mandated report.

(b) If after reasonable efforts a mandated reporter is unable to submit an initial report by telephone, he or she shall immediately or as soon as is practicably possible, by fax or electronic transmission, make a one-time automated written report on the form prescribed by the Department of Justice, and shall also be available to respond to a telephone followup call by the agency with which he or she filed the report. A mandated reporter who files a one-time automated written report because he or she was unable to submit an initial report by telephone is not required to submit a written followup report.

(1) The one-time automated written report form prescribed by the Department of Justice shall be clearly identifiable so that it is not mistaken for a standard written followup report. In addition, the automated one-time report shall contain a section that allows the mandated reporter to state the reason the initial telephone call was not able to be completed. The reason for the submission of the one-time automated written report in lieu of the procedure prescribed in subdivision (a) shall be captured in the Child Welfare Services/Case Management System (CWS/CMS). The department shall work with stakeholders to modify reporting forms and the CWS/CMS as is necessary to accommodate the changes enacted by these provisions.

(2) This subdivision shall not become operative until the CWS/CMS is updated to capture the information prescribed in this subdivision.

(3) This subdivision shall become inoperative three years after this subdivision becomes operative or on January 1, 2009, whichever occurs first.

(4) On the inoperative date of these provisions, a report shall be submitted to the counties and the Legislature by the Department of Social Services that reflects the data collected from automated one-time reports indicating the reasons stated as to why the automated one-time report was filed in lieu of the initial telephone report.

(5) Nothing in this section shall supersede the requirement that a mandated reporter first attempt to make a report via telephone, or that agencies specified in Section 11165.9 accept reports from mandated reporters and other persons as required.

(c) Any mandated reporter who fails to report an incident of known or reasonably suspected child abuse or neglect as required by this section is guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by up to six months confinement in a county jail or by a fine of one thousand dollars ($1,000) or by both that imprisonment and fine. If a mandated reporter intentionally conceals his or her failure to report an incident known by the mandated reporter to be abuse or severe neglect under this section, the failure to report is a continuing offense until an agency specified in Section 11165.9 discovers the offense.

(d) (1) A clergy member who acquires knowledge or a reasonable suspicion of child abuse or neglect during a penitential communication is not subject to subdivision (a). For the purposes of this subdivision, penitential communication means a communication, intended to be in confidence, including, but not limited to, a sacramental confession, made to a clergy member who, in the course of the discipline or practice of his or her church, denomination, or organization, is authorized or accustomed to hear those communications, and under the discipline, tenets, customs, or practices of his or her church, denomination, or organization, has a duty to keep those communications secret.

(2) Nothing in this subdivision shall be construed to modify or limit a clergy member's duty to report known or suspected child abuse or neglect when the clergy member is acting in some other capacity that would otherwise make the clergy member a mandated reporter.

(3) (A) On or before January 1, 2004, a clergy member or any custodian of records for the clergy member may report to an agency specified in Section 11165.9 that the clergy member or any custodian of records for the clergy member, prior to January 1, 1997, in his or her professional capacity or within the scope of his or her employment, other than during a penitential communication, acquired knowledge or had a reasonable suspicion that a child had been the victim of sexual abuse that the clergy member or any custodian of records for the clergy member did not previously report to an agency specified in Section 11165.9. The provisions of Section 11172 shall apply to all reports made pursuant to this paragraph.

(B) This paragraph shall apply even if the victim of the known or suspected abuse has reached the age of majority by the time the required report is made.

(C) The local law enforcement agency shall have jurisdiction to investigate any report of child abuse made pursuant to this paragraph even if the report is made after the victim has reached the age of majority.

(e) Any commercial film and photographic print processor who has knowledge of or observes, within the scope of his or her professional capacity or employment, any film, photograph, videotape, negative, or slide depicting a child under the age of 16 years engaged in an act of sexual conduct, shall report the instance of suspected child abuse to the law enforcement agency having jurisdiction over the case immediately, or as soon as practicably possible, by telephone and shall prepare and send, fax, or electronically transmit a written report of it with a copy of the film, photograph, videotape, negative, or slide attached within 36 hours of receiving the information concerning the incident. As used in this subdivision, sexual conduct means any of the following:

(1) Sexual intercourse, including genital-genital, oral-genital, anal-genital, or oral-anal, whether between persons of the same or opposite sex or between humans and animals.

(2) Penetration of the vagina or rectum by any object.

(3) Masturbation for the purpose of sexual stimulation of the viewer.

(4) Sadomasochistic abuse for the purpose of sexual stimulation of the viewer.

(5) Exhibition of the genitals, pubic, or rectal areas of any person for the purpose of sexual stimulation of the viewer.

(f) Any mandated reporter who knows or reasonably suspects that the home or institution in which a child resides is unsuitable for the child because of abuse or neglect of the child shall bring the condition to the attention of the agency to which, and at the same time as, he or she makes a report of the abuse or neglect pursuant to subdivision (a).

(g) Any other person who has knowledge of or observes a child whom he or she knows or reasonably suspects has been a victim of child abuse or neglect may report the known or suspected instance of child abuse or neglect to an agency specified in Section 11165.9. For purposes of this section, any other person includes a mandated reporter who acts in his or her private capacity and not in his or her professional capacity or within the scope of his or her employment.

(h) When two or more persons, who are required to report, jointly have knowledge of a known or suspected instance of child abuse or neglect, and when there is agreement among them, the telephone report may be made by a member of the team selected by mutual agreement and a single report may be made and signed by the selected member of the reporting team. Any member who has knowledge that the member designated to report has failed to do so shall thereafter make the report.

(i) (1) The reporting duties under this section are individual, and no supervisor or administrator may impede or inhibit the reporting duties, and no person making a report shall be subject to any sanction for making the report. However, internal procedures to facilitate reporting and apprise supervisors and administrators of reports may be established provided that they are not inconsistent with this article.

(2) The internal procedures shall not require any employee required to make reports pursuant to this article to disclose his or her identity to the employer.

(3) Reporting the information regarding a case of possible child abuse or neglect to an employer, supervisor, school principal, school counselor, coworker, or other person shall not be a substitute for making a mandated report to an agency specified in Section 11165.9.

(j) A county probation or welfare department shall immediately, or as soon as practicably possible, report by telephone, fax, or electronic transmission to the law enforcement agency having jurisdiction over the case, to the agency given the responsibility for investigation of cases under Section 300 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, and to the district attorney's office every known or suspected instance of child abuse or neglect, as defined in Section 11165.6, except acts or omissions coming within subdivision (b) of Section 11165.2, or reports made pursuant to Section 11165.13 based on risk to a child which relates solely to the inability of the parent to provide the child with regular care due to the parent's substance abuse, which shall be reported only to the county welfare or probation department. A county probation or welfare department also shall send, fax, or electronically transmit a written report thereof within 36 hours of receiving the information concerning the incident to any agency to which it makes a telephone report under this subdivision.

(k) A law enforcement agency shall immediately, or as soon as practicably possible, report by telephone, fax, or electronic transmission to the agency given responsibility for investigation of cases under Section 300 of the Welfare and Institutions Code and to the district attorney's office every known or suspected instance of child abuse or neglect reported to it, except acts or omissions coming within subdivision (b) of Section 11165.2, which shall be reported only to the county welfare or probation department. A law enforcement agency shall report to the county welfare or probation department every known or suspected instance of child abuse or neglect reported to it which is alleged to have occurred as a result of the action of a person responsible for the child's welfare, or as the result of the failure of a person responsible for the child's welfare to adequately protect the minor from abuse when the person responsible for the child's welfare knew or reasonably should have known that the minor was in danger of abuse. A law enforcement agency also shall send, fax, or electronically transmit a written report thereof within 36 hours of receiving the information concerning the incident to any agency to which it makes a telephone report under this subdivision.

BP 4040

Personnel

Board Adopted: September 9, 2008

Board Revised: August 24, 2010, July 26, 2016

The Board of Trustees recognizes that technological resources can enhance employee performance by offering effective tools to assist in providing a quality instructional program, facilitating communications with parents/guardians, students, and the community, supporting District and school operations, and improving access to and exchange of information. The Board expects all employees to learn to use the available technological resources that will assist them in the performance of their job responsibilities. As needed, employees shall receive professional development in the appropriate use of these resources.

Employees shall be responsible for the appropriate use of technology and shall use the District's technological resources primarily for purposes related to their employment.

District technology includes, but is not limited to, computers, the District's computer network including services and wireless computer networking technology (wi-fi), the Internet, email, USB drives, wireless access points (routers), tablet computers, smartphones and smart devices, telephones, cellular telephones, personal digital assistants, pagers, MP3 players, wearable technology, any wireless communication device including emergency radios, and/or future technological innovations, whether accessed on or off site or through District-owned or personally owned equipment or devices.

The Superintendent or designee shall ensure that all District computers with Internet access have a technology protection measure that prevents access to visual depictions that are obscene or child pornography and that the operation of such measures is enforced. The Superintendent or designee may disable the technology protection measure during use by an adult to enable access for bona fide research or other lawful purpose. (20 USC 6777; 47 USC 254)

The Superintendent or designee shall annually notify employees in writing that they have no reasonable expectation of privacy in the use of any equipment or other technological resources provided by or maintained by the District, including, but not limited to computer files, e-mail, text messages, instant messaging, and other electronic communications even when provided their own password. To ensure proper use, the Superintendent or designee may monitor employee usage of District technology at any time without advance notice or consent and for any reason allowed by law. When passwords are used, they must be known to the Superintendent or designee so that he/she may have system access.

Employees shall be notified that records maintained on any personal device or messages sent or received on a personal device that is being used to conduct District business may be subject to disclosure, pursuant to a subpoena or other lawful request.

Employees shall report any security problem or misuse of District technology to the Superintendent or designee.

The Superintendent or designee shall establish administrative regulations and an Acceptable Use Agreement, which outline employee obligations and responsibilities related to the use of District technology. He/she also may establish guidelines and limits on the use of technology resources. Inappropriate use may result in a cancellation of the employee's user privileges, disciplinary action, and/or legal action in accordance with law, Board policy, and administrative regulation.

To qualify for federal universal service discounts for Internet access, Internet services, or internal connections (E-rate discounts), districts are mandated by 47 USC 254 to adopt an Internal safety policy that includes, but is not limited to, provisions addressing access by minors to "inappropriate matter" on the Internet; see BP 6163.4 – Student Use of Technology.

HIV/AIDS & HEPATITIS B

What is HIV/AIDS?

AIDS (Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome) is the advanced stage of HIV (Human Immunodeficiency Virus) infection. HIV attacks the body's immune system, leaving it vulnerable to life-threatening opportunistic infections and cancers. The virus also may directly attack the central nervous system and cause deterioration of the brain. Persons infected with HIV frequently have no apparent symptoms. They may look healthy. There is no known cure for AIDS. More than half of the persons in the United States with AIDS have died.

How is HIV infection spread?

Everyone infected with HIV, even a person without apparent symptoms, can transmit the virus to someone else. HIV infection can be transmitted by:

- Sexual activity involving direct contact with semen, blood or vaginal secretion of someone who is infected,
- Sharing unsterilized instruments for tattooing, ear piercing, shaving, or acupuncture,
- Sharing intravenous (IV) needles and/or syringes with someone who is infected,
- Direct contact with infected blood on broken skin,
- Accidental needle sticks with needles containing infected blood,
- Receiving blood transfusion or blood products from someone who is infected (a screening test has been used since 1985 that has reduced this risk to 1 in 68,000 in California [AIDS Update, December 1988]), or
- Being born to or breastfed by an infected mother.

The HIV/AIDS Virus cannot be transmitted or spread:

- Through air or water
- By coughing or sneezing
- On surfaces such as phones, doorknobs, office equipment, tools, etc.
- By using drinking fountains, toilets, sinks, etc.
- Through kissing or biting. (There is no documentation of transmission through these modes.)

SYMPTOMS

A person could be infected with HIV and not even know because it might take years to damage the immune system enough for symptoms to appear. They may not know for many years that they have the infection. When symptoms do appear, they often seem like many common illnesses such as:

- Fever
- Swollen Glands
- Loss of Appetite
- Night Sweats
- Diarrhea

Only a physician or a blood test will identify the presence of HIV. As the HIV infected person becomes unable to fight off infections and certain illnesses, they are diagnosed with AIDS. There is no cure for HIV or AIDS.

What is Hepatitis B?

Hepatitis B is an infection of the liver caused by a virus present in blood and other body fluids of infected persons. Less than 50 percent of persons who become infected show symptoms of illness. The symptoms are like those of Hepatitis A and include fatigue, mild fever, muscle or joint aches, nausea, vomiting, loss of appetite, and abdominal pain. In some patients the urine turns dark and the skin becomes yellow. The onset of symptoms may appear from 6 weeks to 6 months after becoming infected with the virus. Death is uncommon in Hepatitis B, but 5 to 10 percent of those infected become long-term virus carriers. Up to 25 percent of carriers may develop serious chronic liver disease. There is a highly effective vaccine to prevent infection with Hepatitis B.

How is Hepatitis B Spread?

An infected person can transmit Hepatitis B as long as the virus remains in the blood. Transmission may occur as early as 4 weeks before any symptoms occur. A small number of people will carry the virus in their blood for years and are known as chronic carriers. Hepatitis B is transmitted by:

- Sexual activity involving direct contact with semen, blood, or vaginal secretions of someone who is infected,
- Sharing unsterile instruments used to penetrate the skin such as those used for tattooing, ear piercing, shaving or acupuncture with someone who is infected,
- Sharing intravenous (IV) needles and/or syringes with someone who is infected,
- Direct contact of infected blood with mucous membrane of the eye and mouth,
- Direct contact with infected blood on broken skin (e.g., cuts),
- Accidental needle sticks with needles containing infected blood,
- Sharing toothbrushes contaminated with infected blood, or
- Being born to an infected mother.

SYMPTOMS

The symptoms of HEPATITIS B include:

- Mild Fever
- Fatigue
- Loss of Appetite
- Abdominal Pain
- Nausea
- Muscle Aches
- Joint Aches
- Skin Becomes Yellowish (Jaundice)
- Vomiting
- Urine Turns Dark

For more information concerning HIV/AIDS, Hepatitis B, or the Hepatitis B vaccine, please contact the nurses at extension 562.

What are Universal Precautions?

Universal Precautions are precautions used in all situations and not limited to use with individuals known to be carrying a specific virus such as HIV or the virus causing Hepatitis B. In the school setting, those precautions should include: hand washing, using gloves, careful trash disposal, using disinfectants, and modification of cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR).

HANDWASHING: Hand washing facilities should include soap and warm running water. Automatic hand dryers or paper towels can be used for drying. Classroom instruction about proper hand washing can be integrated into health instruction at all grade levels. Students should be instructed to wash their hands for 10 seconds. Scheduling time for students to wash hands before eating is suggested to encourage this practice.

USING GLOVES: All staff members who may be required to administer first aid involving blood or to handle body fluids that may contain blood should have access to latex gloves in the areas where the gloves might be required to be used. Gloves should be used only once and then disposed properly.

TRASH DISPOSAL: Special containers lined with plastic and marked appropriately are recommended for disposal of trash containing blood or any body spills that may contain blood. These wastes should be double-bagged. If needles, syringes, or lancets are used in the school setting, arrange for a puncture-proof container. Contact your local health department for directions about disposal of contaminated materials. Place intact needles and syringes in the designated container. Do not bend or break needles. Do not recap needles.

FIRST AID INVOLVING BLOOD AND CPR: Individuals with responsibility for administering first aid in school, on the athletic fields, in the cafeterias, on the playgrounds, or on school buses should have current CPR instruction and certification. That instruction can be provided by certificated school nurses employed by the school districts or by local agencies such as the American Red Cross and the American Heart Association. Gloves should be standard components of first-aid supplies in the schools so that they are readily accessible for emergencies and regular care given in school health offices, cafeterias, and athletic training rooms. Devices that prevent backflow of fluids from the mouth of a victim being given CPR also should be readily accessible to those persons most likely to be the rescuers in the school setting. A wide variety of devices are available. Contact your local paramedic teams or hospital emergency room to determine which devices they recommend.

Policies and Laws

The law states that the information regarding HIV/AIDS status requires written permission. The information may only be shared with persons specifically named.

- While adults grant their own written permission to share their HIV/AIDS status, parents or guardians of children can grant written permission to share information on students under 18.
- Sharing information about HIV/AIDS infected persons without consent is prohibited by law, and that person is subject to a civil penalty and a fine not to exceed $5,000,000.
- The policies for students with HIV/AIDS state that students must not be excluded or placed specially or solely because of their HIV status.
- Only a student's physician may determine if school attendance is inappropriate due to the student's vulnerability to infections present at school.
- The current law does not require parents or physicians to inform school officials of the student's HIV/AIDS status. If disclosure by student or parent is made, it must be kept confidential unless written permission is given.
- In the legalities of testing, it is a misdemeanor to disclose blood test results of HIV/AIDS positives except by written authorization (CH & S Code Chapter 1.11 & 1.12 Sections 199.21, 199.30, 199.31 & 199.37).
- Pupils in grades 7-12 must receive AIDS prevention instruction at least once in junior high or middle school and once in high school (California Education Code 51201.5).
- Districts are required to provide inservice training for those employees who provide AIDS prevention instruction (California Education Code 51229.8).

Fullerton School District Board Policy

Students

Approved: June 10, 2005

Revised: July 24, 2012, November 15, 2016, August 14, 2018

The Board of Trustees desires to provide a safe school environment that allows all students equal access and opportunities in the District's academic, extracurricular, and other educational support programs, services, and activities. The Board prohibits, at any District school or school activity, unlawful discrimination, including discriminatory harassment, intimidation, and bullying, targeted at any student by anyone, based on the student's actual or perceived race, color, ancestry, national origin, nationality, immigration status, ethnicity, ethnic group identification, age, religion, pregnancy, marital or parental status, physical or mental disability, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, or gender expression or association with a person or group with one or more of these actual or perceived characteristics.

This policy shall apply to all acts related to District programs, school activities or to school attendance occurring within a District school, and to acts which occur off campus or outside of school-related or school-sponsored activities but which may have an impact or create a hostile environment at school.

Unlawful discrimination, including discriminatory harassment, intimidation, or bullying, may result from physical, verbal, nonverbal, or written conduct based on any of the categories listed above. Unlawful discrimination also includes the creation of a hostile environment through prohibited conduct that is so severe, persistent, or pervasive that it affects a student's ability to participate in or benefit from an educational program or activity; creates an intimidating, threatening, hostile, or offensive educational environment; has the effect of substantially or unreasonably interfering with a student's academic performance; or otherwise adversely affects a student's educational opportunities.

Unlawful discrimination also includes disparate treatment of students based on one of the categories above with respect to the provision of opportunities to participate in school programs or activities or the provision or receipt of educational benefits or services.

The Board also prohibits any form of retaliation against any individual who reports or participates in the reporting of unlawful discrimination, files or participates in the filing of a complaint, or investigates or participates in the investigation of a complaint or report alleging unlawful discrimination. Retaliation complaints shall be investigated and resolved in the same manner as a discrimination complaint.

The Superintendent or designee shall facilitate students' access to the educational program by publicizing the District's nondiscrimination policy and related complaint procedures to students, parents/guardians, and employees. He/she shall provide training and information on the scope and use of the policy and complaint procedures and take other measures designed to increase the school community's understanding of the requirements of law related to discrimination. The Superintendent or designee shall regularly review the implementation of the District's nondiscrimination policies and practices and, as necessary, shall take action to remove any identified barrier to student access to or participation in the District's educational program. He/she shall report his/her findings and recommendations to the Board after each review.

Regardless of whether a complainant complies with the writing, timeline, and/or other formal filing requirements, all complaints alleging unlawful discrimination, including discriminatory harassment, intimidation, or bullying, shall be investigated and prompt action taken to stop the discrimination, prevent recurrence, and address any continuing effect on students.

Students who engage in unlawful discrimination, including discriminatory harassment, intimidation, retaliation, or bullying, in violation of law, Board policy, or administrative regulation shall be subject to appropriate consequence or discipline, which may include suspension or expulsion when the behavior is severe or pervasive as defined in Education Code 48900.4. Any employee who permits or engages in prohibited discrimination, including discriminatory harassment, intimidation, retaliation, or bullying, shall be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal.

Record-Keeping

The Superintendent or designee shall maintain a record of all reported cases of unlawful discrimination, including discriminatory harassment, intimidation, or bullying, to enable the District to monitor, address, and prevent repetitive prohibited behavior in District schools.

Personal Appearance: Your personal appearance should be appropriate for your position. You should be well groomed at all times. Some departments have specific safety requirements, including the use of uniforms, when it comes to dress. Please check with your supervisor regarding specific dress requirement.

Food and Drink Consumption: Consumption of food and drink as an employee group or classroom as means of recognition and/or celebration is considered to be appropriate. Personal consumption during work time is not.

Potential Toxic Materials: Employees are expected to be vigilant in monitoring food and toxic materials brought to school. Nuts/peanuts can be a serious health issue for individuals who have allergic responses to these items and should be restricted from student areas.

Cell Phones: The use of personal cell phones and/or texting while on duty is discouraged. Personal communication devices should be used only during breaks, lunch times, and other off duty times.

Technology: The use of district technology for personal use during duty time is not an approved activity. Access to such technologies is acceptable during breaks, lunch periods, and other off duty time. Access to web locations outside the established District content firewalls while on District property or in the presence of students and community members is not acceptable.

Employee Safety: Employees are encouraged to assist the District in keeping all students, staff and community members safe. Please report safety hazards to your supervisor for proper resolution. Employees needing accommodations due to an injury or illness must submit a doctor's note with detailed restrictions clearly outlined. The District's Personnel Department, will determine if the employee may be accommodated. If the employee cannot be accommodated, they will either be placed on an alternative work assignment, if appropriate, or sent home until recovery allows for reinstatement of assignment.

The use of crutches in restricted areas is a hazard to the employee as well as those within the work area. Crutches in physically restrictive areas like classrooms will not be accommodated. Employees responsible for student safety are also not able to respond in a successful fashion while on crutches.

Risky Behaviors Red Flags

The best way staff can protect themselves from false accusations is to avoid behaviors that can be misconstrued. The following risky behaviors are not absolute prohibitions, indisputable indicators of wrongdoing, or a substitute for common sense; they are intended as risk management guidelines.

1. Do not be alone with a student in your classroom with the door closed!
2. Do not meet students outside of school for a meal, a soft drink, etc. Regardless of the motivation, there is seldom justification for such conduct. (School sanctioned events with parental involvement excluded)
3. Do not counsel your students in nonacademic matters unless you are qualified to do so. Teachers, although well meaning, are not trained as counselors. (Teachers generally resent this suggestion, citing the bond of trust that they have developed with their students.) Teachers must consider the potential risk in discussing personal matters with students. If they believe that a student is in some type of trouble, they should refer the student to the school's counseling team.
4. Do not transport students in your own vehicle or allow students to have access to your vehicle.
5. Do not give students hall passes to come to your classroom on nonschool-related business.
6. Do not allow students to engage you in conversations regarding their romantic or sexual activities, and do not discuss your own personal affairs with students.
7. Do not entertain students in your home.
8. Do not make sexual comments/innuendos, comment about students' bodies, tell sexual jokes, or share sexually oriented material with students.
9. Do not place your hands on students in a manner that a reasonable person could interpret as inappropriate. The child shall be given the choice of being interviewed in private or in the presence of any adult school employee or volunteer aide selected by the child.

A staff member or volunteer aide selected by a child may decline to be present at the interview. If the selected person accepts, the principal or designee shall inform him/her, before the interview takes place, of the following requirements:
